

Yorkshire Rare
Breed Pork

Robert Mercer, Staffordshire

Robert Mercer 's family have been raising pigs for four generations, he is exceptionally proud of his free-range pigs, and always strives to improve life for the pigs wherever possible. Robert truly believes that his pork is the tastiest money can buy and he prides himself on the consistency of his product.

Charles Ashbridge, Thirsk, North Yorkshire

The Ashbridge family has been farming in North Yorkshire since the 1800's using the traditional methods of breeding, rearing and finishing livestock that were used in their Grandfathers day are still evident in Charles's farming protocol. Charles has been farming rare breed pigs since 2004 and is convinced that the breed's inherent qualities and carefully monitored natural feed makes for an unrivalled quality and flavour of pork.